Allopathic v Homeopathic

- Allopathic Treatment
 - Allopathic medicine is generally defined as “the use of pharmaceutical agents or drugs by western medical practice in an attempt to treat or suppress symptoms or processes of diseases or conditions”.
- Homeopathic Treatment
 - Homeopathy is based on the doctrine of similia similibus curentur ("like cures like"), according to which a substance that causes the symptoms of a disease in healthy people will cure that disease in sick people.
